

AGENDA MEMO

5/18/2021 Agenda

TO: Honorable Mayor and City Council

FROM: Patrick Baugh, Community Development Director

SUBJECT: Conduct a Public Hearing in consideration of an Ordinance amending the Special Sign District of 6565 Hillcrest Avenue to allow a statue of a Buffalo

BACKGROUND:

The Special Sign District (District) for 6565 Hillcrest, Hilltop Plaza, was created through Ordinance on March 5, 2019. The primary tenant's subsidiary, Capital Plains Bank, requests the District's regulations be amended to allow a life-size, bronze with brown patina, statue of an American Bison (aka Buffalo) the Tenant's logo image.

The life size Bison statue stands 6'-2" tall, 9'-10" in length and 3'-0" wide. This is proposed to be mounted on a 4'-0" by 8'-0" base at ground level to provide a true-to-life viewing experience. The statue would be located near the northeast corner of the building and setback from the street/face of curb approximately 18'-0".

The Zoning and Development Advisory Committee deliberated on this request during its April meeting and recommended approval of the amendment. No other elements or requirements of the Special Sign District or graphics package is affected.

In 2017, the Bison received official designation as the country's first National Mammal. Attached is also a brief article from D Magazine (March 1990) that could lend additional support for approval of this proposal to place a statue of a Bison in Snider Plaza.

Notice of the Public Hearing was published April 30, 2021 in the Daily Commercial Record.

RECOMMENDATION:

Staff concurs with the Zoning and Development Advisory Committee and recommends approval of the amending ordinance of the Special Sign District for 6565 Hillcrest, Hilltop Plaza to allow placement and installation of the American Bison statue.

DALLAS'S LAST BUFFALO HUNT

BY ROB LALLIER PUBLISHED IN D MAGAZINE MARCH 1990

YESTERDAY The last buffalo shot in Dallas began its final day in what is now Old Town Shopping Center. During the Depression, however. Old Town was prairie land on the old Caruth plantation and the site of a Thirties Western movie whose fate was ultimately as bleak as that of the buffalo.

Buffalo and Indians were imported from Oklahoma for the shoot-em-up's opening scene and things began according to plan: Indians whooped, buffalo thundered. And then came trouble. A reinforced barbed wire fence failed to stop the charging buffalo, who scattered throughout the countryside.

Enter land baron WILL CARUTH JR., an avid hunter and gun lover, who set out to track one beast reported to be roaming through his Highland Park neighborhood. As Caruth closed in, the buffalo made its way to Snider Plaza, where he encountered a Gulf station attendant fixing a tire. When the man heard a strange snort, he looked up-and screamed.

The buffalo then headed for the Varsity Theatre (now the Plaza Theatre), which was just letting out. Several theater patrons, seeing the bison, decided that a second show wouldn't be a bad idea and fled back into the theater. That's when Caruth caught up with the big woolly guy, took aim, and dropped him on the spot.

And that's the story. The buffalo meat found its way to the Salvation Army. The head hangs on Caruth's wall. That's just the way it was back then, junior. Kids walked barefoot through the snow to school and buffalo roamed the Highland Park shopping centers.
